Wildfire smoke can irritate your respiratory system and harm your immune system. Clean air filters help maintain the quality of air you breathe.

Ionization and UV filtration systems are proven to kill 99.5% of Covid-19 virus strains.

Ionization systems are effective at removing smoke particulates, molds, odors, and airborne pathogens.

It is vitally important to regularly maintain your filter and replace them when necessary to minimize the risks of pollutants re-entering into your home.
